FRENTE · 1 / 12

1

human rights

FRENTE · 2 / 12

2

discrimination

FRENTE · 3 / 12

3

prejudice

FRENTE · 4 / 12

4

tolerance

VERSO

1

The basic freedoms and protections every person is born with, as set out in the 1948 Universal Declaration.

VERSO

2

Treating a person or group unfairly because of who they are — an action, not just an idea.

VERSO

3

An opinion formed before the facts are known, often negative and unfair. "Fear breeds prejudice."

VERSO

4

Respecting beliefs and practices different from your own without accepting them as yours.

© 2026 Estudantices

FRENTE · 5 / 12

5 integration

FRENTE · 6 / 12

6

a minority

FRENTE · 7 / 12

7

equality

FRENTE · 8 / 12

8

dignity

VERSO

5

Taking part fully in the life of a community while keeping your own identity. "The school supports integration of new pupils."

VERSO

6

A small group within a society whose members differ from the majority — religion, language or origin.

VERSO

7

Everyone having the same rights and opportunities, regardless of sex, race or beliefs.

VERSO

8

The inner worth of a person that demands respect. "Every detainee retains their dignity."

FRENTE · 9 / 12

9

a refugee

FRENTE · 10 / 12

10

asylum

FRENTE · 11 / 12

11

civic duty

FRENTE · 12 / 12

12

solidarity

VERSO

9

A person who has left their country because of war or persecution and cannot return safely. "The school hosts two refugee families."

VERSO

10

Official protection granted by a country to someone who asks for safety. "They were granted asylum in Portugal."

VERSO

11

The responsibilities of a citizen towards the community — voting, respecting laws, helping others.

VERSO

12

Support and unity within a group, especially in difficult times. "The town showed solidarity with the flood victims."

© 2026 Estudantices

© 2026 Estudantices